

10 December 1992

Dear APBA baseball fan:

If you have ever wondered.....

- What does Gehrig's seven power number card look like?
- Were there any cards corrected by the Company for the 1969 Season?
- How can I tell which season these cards are from? (i.e., "Where's the 12 for... ?")
- Who has the most 11's on his card? The most power numbers? The most 14's?
- Which APBA teams have the best pitching staffs? The worst?
- How many versions of the All Time Greats Team (ATA) are there? And are there any differences between them?
- Which card is the most unusual? (And what does it look like?)

The Handbook for APBA Baseball Cards is the answer to these and any other question you might have about the 45,000 cards the APBA Game Company has produced.

In case you did not see the ad (enclosed) in the October or November issues of the APBA Journal or the forthcoming ad in the Company's winter catalogue, I have taken the liberty of sending you this information directly.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Edwin Zack

P.S. Also enclosed are: a list of APBA baseball cards that I need for my collection, and a list of duplicate cards that are available for sale or trade.
