

1996 Bowlers: It's Onward and Upward Again

Williams, Duke, Bohn Head List of 14 Bowlers Averaging 220-Plus

by Royce Sleighter

Walla Walla, WA

Even higher scores each bowling season seems to be the norm and never the exception. The 1996 season AJ Bowling cards authored by John Q. Wright (his fifth edition) firmly highlight this modern phenomenon. Of course, better lanes and continually improving equipment fuel this exciting trend. It actually makes the Hall-of-Fame bowlers of yesteryear look like rank amateurs. This is unfortunate because those bowlers in those years were the best of their time and if they were bowling in this time frame, would probably more than hold their own with the current hot-shots.

That said, let's look at the '96 set. W.R. Williams, the Michael Jordan of pro bowling, again leads the pack, this time with the second highest per game average in the history of bowling: 225.37, a full three pins ahead of veteran Norm Duke, who was in the number two spot at 222.28. W.R. qualified for the finals 10 times in '96 and won five tournaments. In contrast, Parker Bohn, the fiery left-hander, qualified nine times with only one win. Oddly, in all his 17 years on tour, W.R. has never won any of the three 'Major' titles.

All in all, 14 bowlers averaged 220 or more, up from 10 in '95. Please note that Williams has the only '1' result in the strike column on both dice rolls 14 and 34. Duke, Bohn, Bob Learn and returnee Pete Weber make up positions two through five, all with 222+ averages. There are are minuscule differences in the fractional numbers following the 222's that determined their finishing positions. These four cards are essentially identical except for minor spare column results that should, theoretically, closely reflect their actual averages.

John has placed the O1 on dice roll 65 for '96, a more familiar spot for that Rare Play number. Also the 'S' or 'Split' result is on 56 in the current set. Gone are the days when many cards had two 'S' results.

Good news for bowling fans is the return of Weber, a flamboyant showman you either love or hate, to the AJ card fold. Audience reaction to Pete is often similar to that of the intense Marshall Holman in past seasons.

Among the few newcomers to APBA/AJ Bowling is Tom DeLutz, who averaged 218.37 to finish a very respectable 21st. The PBA's Rookie of the Year, 38-year-old C.K. Moore, failed to finish in the top 50, so he didn't receive a card, posting 'only' a 210.94 mark. At last place (50th) in the set is Mike Scroggins with 214.76.

Arena bowling continues to attract more fans to the sport, with its increased visibility format allowing as many as 7000 fans to have a much improved view of finals events. This idea dramatically spotlights finals bowlers as 'stars' and adds a much-needed touch of glamour to a sport badly in need of such a boost. 10 of the 26 tour events featured this popular concept. They are noted in this issue along with the finalists in each '96 event.

The IABL (International APBA Bowling League) continues to thrive in its 12th season. I'm curious as to whether there are any other leagues active in the bowling game. Please contact the AJ if you are interested in possible IABL membership [or e-mail John Wright at jwright@newheights.org] or if you are involved in a bowling league.

As for me, I can't wait to start rolling dice for these '96 finals. See ya next time.

In the box below are the total money winnings for each carded bowler from the FINALS ONLY. These totals are only the FINAL FIVE winnings and are NOT the bowlers' total money winnings for the season. If you should decide to replay the final five in each event, you can, at the end of the project, compare money won in your replay to money won in real life. Keep in mind, however, that (as noted below) quite a bit of prize money in these events was won by non-carded bowlers, so winnings for carded players in your replay can be expected to be higher when they are added to the totals as alternates. (The number of additional events they'll play is listed in the right-hand column.) We hope this list and the schedule will add to your enjoyment of APBA Bowling.
